Fourth conference

LP4Q launches its fourth conference under the auspices of the Turkish Parliament under the title “Jerusalem is Our Red Line”

On Tuesday, November 30, the League launched its fourth conference, under the title “Jerusalem is Our Red Line,” in the Turkish capital, Ankara, under the auspices of the Turkish Parliament.

The Vice President of the Turkish Republic, Mr. Fuat Oktay, the Speaker of the Turkish Parliament, Prof. Mustafa Sentop, and heads of parliaments and parliamentarians from more than 50 countries around the world participated in the conference.

The opening session of the conference was opened by the President of the League, Mr. Hamid bin Abdullah Al-Ahmar, and included speeches by the Speaker of the Turkish Parliament, Mustafa Shantop, the Vice-President of the League, MP. Nureddin Nebati, and the Speaker of the Yemeni House of Representatives, Mr. Sultan al-Barkani, in addition to a speech by the Palestinian Legislative Council, by Representative Khalil Al-Hayya and Representative in Palestinian National Council Abbas Zaki.

The conference included a number of seminars and meeting between the League’s administration with the participating delegations, and the work of the parliamentary platform, which included interventions by the speakers of parliaments, their deputies, and heads of delegations from different continents, in addition to a visit to the Turkish National Assembly, and a dinner party in honor of the Vice President of the Turkish Republic, Mr. Fuat Oktay.

During the seminars held, the participating parliamentarians called for urgent, practical and concrete action to confront the plans of the Israeli occupation in the occupied city of Jerusalem, to develop plans to confront the Judaizing plans of the occupation in Jerusalem, and to work to preserve its identity and its historical and legal status. They stressed the necessity of defending the issue of prisoners in occupation prisons, especially representatives of the Palestinian Legislative Council, who are repeatedly arrested by the occupation, confronting the occupation’s attempts to penetrate the African continent, including a scientific curriculum in schools that clarifies the Palestinian issue, and activating regional ties in the League.

The final statement of the conference affirmed the conference participants’ rally around the “League of Parliamentarians for al-Quds,” as a comprehensive global parliamentary framework and address for all parliamentarians defending the Palestinian cause, and their full commitment to supporting the Palestinian people in their struggle to obtain their legitimate rights and establish their independent state.

The most prominent participants in the conference:

- Speaker of the Turkish Parliament, Prof. Mustafa Sentop.
